Customer Reviews

“From ant to zebra, this abecedarian board book collects 26 animals. While the animals are familiar, Ryan’s portraits stand out, combining embossed thumbprints for animal heads and bodies with unexpected photographic elements. “I is for Iguana/ That loves to climb trees,” opens one spread; the iguana’s spines consist of crayon tips, while a neighboring jellyfish has gummy worm tendrils. A unicorn with an ice-cream cone horn and a newt with fried-egg eyes also pop up in this quirky, eye-catching collection.” Publishers Weekly

I love this series, and this is a great book! For each letter of the alphabet, there is an animal plus a short phrase about the animal. I love the creativity of how the animals are shown and the short, descriptive phrases. Note: eight of the animals in this book are the same as the Little Alphaprints: Animals book. If you are choosing between the two, I would recommend this book over the Animals book, based on content.

I just love the Alphaprint books. This one was such a steal for $4! The pictures are so fun and I love that the fingerprints are textured. The rhymes were cute and its becoming one of my sons favorite books!

Love these books. My toddler loves the rhymes, and enjoys repeating the animal names.

This book is fantastic! Very colorful and text for infant allows you to move along quickly enough that they do not lose interest.

Purchased this for an autistic nephew. He loves the textures. Mom and younger sister enjoy showing him the changes in texture. His younger sister has learned quick enough to point out similar textures and will identify the sofa and curtains to him by texture to animal comparison. Great gift...durable and educational on many fronts.

Big and sturdy. Cool ridges on the fingerprints.

Using fingerprints to form the bodies of the animals really intrigued my two year old granddaughter. She loved the feel and the look of these new and interesting animals. Great visual and tactile learning experience.

Got this book when my daughter was born and have been reading it to her almost daily for the past 10/5 months. It is her absolute FAVORITE book! I've now gifted it to other new parents who love it as well!
