Customer Reviews

Loved this book, first time reading this Author.I started out not knowing if I would like it but I could not put down. Harlow James has had a hard time of things with her doctor husband, she lost her baby he filed for a divorce, told her he was marrying someone younger and tried to take their homes away from her and forced the hospital she worked at as a elite pediatric transplant surgeon to fire her without really any cause. She did the only thing she could think to do she ran for six months, she has finally ended up in Taos, New Mexico at the Pearl she meets Dax Drexel a Master Craftsman with a showroom on Seventh Avenue in New York, and so much younger than her. Dax is able to get Harlow to want to live again! What happens? Will they get a happy ending or does her exhusband to be, cause her more trouble?

This was the first book I'd read from this author and I have to say that I am happy to have found another good one. The storyline was well written, although a few times repetitive with description of certain aspects involved, it didn't hinder the effects of the story. The premise is a second chance of love, but the story goes way beyond that. So much more.....It starts with a bang, then enter another and another. I was in tears, I wanted to punch Jeff, I fell in love with Dax and the whole family and thank God for Kathy. It was wonderfully full of angst and love and friendships and so many emotions that I was exhausted, but got through it. My only reason for not giving a five star is because of the ending. It just stopped for me. Don't get me wrong, I'm glad it happened - the outcome, but another chapter explaining some major unanswered what happens now about this and that is still left in the air. For me it wasn't enough of an ending to complete the story thoroughly. I wanted answers, I wanted perhaps some justice, maybe more on what happens to the other woman etc. The truth... still recommend this book.

I had to stay until three o'clock to finish this. It was wonderful to know that one can be a master at something without going to college. Harlow went to college and became a top surgeon but somehow it wasn't the happiness that she was looking for. Along came Dax. I loved where he lived and how he lived and his outlook on life. Wow did Harlow ever learn a lot from a noncollege person 13 years younger that her. Whom she first referred to as a boy and later changed to a man. What fun knowledge and what common sense knowledge that could fill a book. That's what I perceived it to be. Let go of those lofty ideas and ideals and love.

I thoroughly enjoyed this book. I laughed, I got righteously indignant/angry, I even cried  $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{A}|$  which all tells you that the author did a great job with the characters. I was invested in them, especially Harlow (maybe because I $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ m over forty LOL) and cared what happened to them. I love the older woman/younger man relationship (heck I wrote one too in  $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{A}$  "Directing Zac $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{A}$  "Directing Zac $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{A}$  even though there were enough other differences between the characters that it wasn $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ t strictly necessary. I also liked the nicely understated references to Taos culture and Dax $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ s family and friend dynamics. Harlow had a tough childhood that definitely affected her relationships, but it wasn $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ t overdone. And Dax was secure enough with himself that he wasn $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ t intimidated by an educated, successful woman (not that Harlow was feeling like one when they met), yet very authentically male-minded (and temper heh). The only thing that I got hung up on was the logistics related to Harlow $\tilde{A}f\hat{A}\phi\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$   $\neg\tilde{A}$   $\hat{a}$ ,  $\phi$ s pregnancy at the end; it seemed a little too contrived.

I enjoyed this book from start to finish. I love the cover and I love the blurb which sucked me in to add it to my wish list. When I saw it was on sale for 99 cents I grabbed it! I liked that the characters in this story were so complex. They had a lot going on and they'd already been through a lot. That made it quite real for me, without it being a giant drama. I also enjoyed the alternating points of view - I quite like to know what the male H is thinking and this one was particularly interesting since he was so cocky. While there were no super-raunchy sex scenes in this book there was a lot of confronting words when Dax was thinking to himself - I think that made it more believable. All in all, a great read and I'm glad I stayed up to 5am to finish it!!

I enjoy reading romances with an older female (over 30). She falls for a younger, successful man named Dax when he mistakenly heads to the place he built, but was rented to her. She ran away from her broken marriage, heartbreak, and loss of a career and ended up in New Mexico. It starts with her almost committing suicide in a moment of despair. That caught my attention. It also helped give depth to the story. Their romance was hot and sexy. It was also built on lies and omissions.

Both could be immature and were hurt in other relationships. Their pain pasts made them relatable. Their differences added to the story as they were both successful, but in very different fields. He was mature, and definitely not a kid. She was immature at times, with more to learn, even though she was older than he.I really appreciated that he got the test done. This was not another romance where in the middle of sex they yell out,"I'm clean!" That can be so annoying. Also it was easy to fall for his family and see how different his mother and father's relationship was. Romance does not come in a one size fits all package. There were humorous and touching parts. I also liked that she was a foster kid who was still dealing with being unwanted and being made fun of. He identified more with his mother's side and spoke Spanish to his abuela. This was my first time reading a novel by this author. I would be interested in reading more by her.

This was my first book by this author - AND I LOVED IT! I'm a new fan! Dax and Harlowe's story is wonderful...The opening is riveting and had me hooked! Heartbreak, suspense, longing, romance, SEX... this book has it all. I loved the fact that Harlowe was older & Dax isn't your typical younger man either. I couldn't put this book down and I look forward to more by this author. PS - LOVED the cover!!!! The FB ads drew me to this story and helped me discover this awesome author!
