Yvon Chouinard, a noted alpinist and environmentalist, is the founder and owner of Patagonia, Inc., which Fortune has called "the coolest company on the planet." He is also the co-founder with Craig Mathews of 1% For The Planet and the author of Let My People Go Surfing. Doug Tompkins is a mountain climber, Deep Ecologist, and forward-thinking businessman. Tompkins was the founder of The North Face and co-owner of the ESPRIT clothing company. Chris Malloy is a professional surfer, cowboy, and visionary filmmaker. He directed the well-respected films Shelter, Thicker than Water, A Brokedown Melody, and One Track Mind. Chris has brought his eye and style to Patagonia clothing, helping them brand and realize their surf line and retail surf stores. An advocate for sustainable living and for surfing's roots, Chris still opts to paddle into some of the largest surf imaginable. Jeff Johnson is one of the best surf photographers in the business.

This movie and book had a huge impact in my life. Hands down my favorite documentary I've ever seen and the book was an awesome topper to see further into the making and shaping of these events.

If you are into the nostalgia of the rock climbing pioneers turned philanthropists, this is the book for you. I work next to a Patagonia store and now I really get why when you walk in the front door the first thing you see is the USED CLOTHES section. Very eye opening. Yvon Chouinard is a very cool character. Don't miss the movie too.

Makes you want to quit your job and follow their journey. Excellent photos and great stories, it feels like you're along for the ride the whole time.

I loved this book. Great coffee table fodder. The pictures are simple but are there to keep reminding you that Patagonia is there for you to explore!

If you loved the movie you have to get the coffee table book too!

Amazing book. Great pictures and great story.
