The Christian Vision Of Humanity (Zaccheus Studies New Testament)

Synopsis

The incredible technical achievements of recent history may make us feel little less than gods," but we also find much that cuts us down. When we face our own limits and failures, upon what or whom can we rely? The biblical "answer" to questions about the ultimate nature and meaning of human life begins with the experience of Semitic slaves led out of Egyptian slavery beautifully recounted in Deuteronomy 26:5-11. The New Testament presents Jesus as the culmination of God's Old Testament promise. Christian faith has a particular Vision of the world and of humanity founded upon the relationship between God and creation. Its key elements are found in the inviolable dignity of every person, the essential centrality of community, and the significance of human action. These are the main themes of a Christian anthropology developed in this book."

Customer Reviews

..".ideal for the parish study group, and for any serious student interested in solid studies in nontechnical language."

Great condition and went well with class

Had to buy this for a college class, but will be keeping this book. Best book every for explaining what it really means to be made in the image of God.

The packaged came damaged to the point that the book its self was damaged along with a different name attached to it.

Sach's treatment of Christian anthropology is inspired and poetic. Every line is a source of uplifting inspiration. A fine book by a fine scholar.

Categories are good. Discussion is poor. Philosophically and theologically lacking. The best part is the table of contents. Which is saying something because many people miss the relevant doctrines to the study of anthropology.

Great and quick service!

This book is a short, concise, and artfully prepared introduction to Christian theological anthropology. It's worth reading, honestly.
