Newport Is Haunted

Synopsis

In the summer of 2008, we began exploring fund raising opportunities for a student service trip. Our plan was to develop an annual event to support our service work in impoverished places throughout the world. After falling in love with Newport, we decided to create The Newport Walking Tour, also known as the Gangster Tour. We put a spotlight on the vice and illegal activity during the years it was known as "Sin City, USA." As we crafted our tour, we were surprised that along with every gangster story we collected was a pair of ghost stories. The historical archives shocked us with a disturbing chain of hauntings and strange happenings dating as far back as the early 1800s. After gathering and sharing these stories with friends and family, we were encouraged to do more than create a ghost tour. The following stories needed to be placed in a book so that they may be more accessible and preserved.

Customer Reviews

I love a good ghost story, especially one that is rooted in historical fact. The stories in "Newport is Haunted" were gathered by the founder of The Newport Walking Tour also known locally as The Gangster Tour because it included the locations where so much illegal activity that Newport, KY was once known as "Sin City, USA." The founders of the tour found that for everyone gangsters story they were able to find, there were two ghost stories that came along with them. With the help of a local paranormal investigation team, they were able to compile the best and scariest stories that appear in this collection. My personal favorites are "The Murder of Pearl Bryan," "The Old Sunken Well," "From The Mouths of Babes," and "The Ghost In The Chair." "From The Mouths of Babes" is the spookiest of them all as it deals with the restless spirit of a child who was horribly tortured at the hands of her own parents. If you are a fan of real life ghost stories, do yourself a favor and check it out.

Being raised in Newport and living on 5th street, having to walk Monmouth Street to go to Jr. High school, this book brought back memories of why we used to cross the street a lot. We could never stay on the same side of the street, to reach school. Now we know why.
