Customer Reviews

"The love and light that seem to magically pour from the pages of prose are both beautiful and healing, and speak a message of hope. I would suggest [this book] to the Lightworker and the Starchild alike."-- Alyssa Elmore, Readers' Favorite

"The effect that the text produced on my inner essence was striking. Reading the book's sublime lines led my heart to tremble with joy. This book really has an amazing energy that affects the heart in a mysterious way, something that is beyond the understanding of an average person."-- Michael Wilkin, Midwest Book Review

"Very few modern books on spirituality carry with them such a deep sense of history. [This book] is a call to arms and a battle plan for those who are working hard to solidify more of the energy of light and love into this planet. It is fresh and alive and as inspirational as any good spiritual work should be."-- Peter Morris, Spirituality Today

"The material is written in the format of the teacher speaking with the student and offers simple and wise advice that can be applied to today's world."-- Krysta Gibson, New Spirit Journal

"Interesting content and beautifully written. Inspirational."-- 2017 Benjamin Franklin Awards Judge

"[The Teaching of the Heart] devises new worldviews of the social and cosmic evolution of humanity in the transitional period. The teaching is distinguished by its ethical and humanistic orientation, an unusual way of thinking, and a vivid form of exposition."-- Tatiana Simanzhenkova, Ph.D., Siberian State Technological University (Russia)

"All of Zinovia Dushkova's books are addressed to those who ponder the spiritual destiny of human beings and question their place in the evolutionary process. These are book reflections with no recipes, but they offer motivation for further meditation and self-knowledge, serving as a support along the path towards cognition of eternal values."-- Tatiana Artemenko, Publisher of Zadruga (Ukraine)

"Right now, in this difficult but crucial time, the literary works of Zinovia Dushkova are extraordinarily important, carrying the light of great humanistic truths and of love, heartiness, and great tolerance with regard to each other -- the light that helps a human being to become a true human being."-- S.E. Novosad, Psychologist, Member of the All-Russian Professional Psychotherapeutic League,

Director of Psychological Center "Claritas" (Russia)"I use the material from Dr. Dushkova's books to resolve almost all conflict situations. Surprisingly, it is usually possible to find answers to all of my questions. . . . With full responsibility, I applaud them as the methodical literature for use in educational institutions."-- G.G. Ustyuzhanina, Deputy Dean of the Kemerovo Vocational-Technical College (Russia)

Zinovia Dushkova, Ph.D., is an award-winning Russian author and researcher of ancient mysteries. Her spiritual quest has taken her to remote Buddhist monasteries and sacred Abodes hidden within mountains and deserts in Tibet, Nepal, Mongolia, and India, where she has studied ancient manuscripts inaccessible to Western researchers, such as the secret Book of Dzyan. great spiritual read

BEAUTIFUL!

I haven't read the whole book but so far it appears to be very similar to the Agni Yoga books, that are more inspirational than instructional. In spiritual books I look for practical secrets and this book falls short in that arena. It may be a great book for people starting out on their spiritual quest but not for advanced students. To give you an idea, here's four excerpts I liked: "If you want to obtain a desired chemical reaction, you will not add something that is not included in the formula. In the same way, if you desire to find mutual love, you need to eliminate thoughts of hatred and put together only those summands that bear the Light of Love within themselves..." "Believe in yourself, and you will win in any situation." "Imperishable treasures must be accumulated in the spirit. Work brightly for their multiplication, and everything else will follow, even the material." "Each new day is a rung that allows you to rise higher." This book also mentions that Edgar Cayce predicted the Messiah would enter our world in 1998, which is when Belsebuub started teaching astral projection and the spiritual life in Australia. This book does not prove to be more powerful or practical than the true teachers of recent years. Here's a list in case you are still searching:- Beinsa Douno (Bulgaria)-

Belsebuub (Wales)- Eliphas Levi (France)- Esko Jalkanen (Finland)- Gurdjieff (Armenia)- Samael Aun Weor (Colombia)- The Dayspring of Youth & sequel by M. (USA)- The Flight of the Feathered Serpent by Armando Cosani (Paraguay)- Yogananda (India)I am interested in Dushkova's future projects and I hope that she can bring us some game-changing wisdom like the aforementioned nine teachers did. Anyhow, eloquent prose does not hide the fact that the true esoteric secrets are not to be found in this book.

This is a consciousness raising book. Most of us have heard of the change in the prevailing scheme of energies that run the planet and that they were ushered in on/after Dec. 21 2012. A cataclysm of sorts was predicted and sceptics had a field day when nothing of the sort occurred. Yet many of us would testify that many of the old ways of survival and promoting oneself are getting obsolete. New stratagems based on the principles of equality, liberty and fraternity (in that order) are being favoured. Interest in the esoteric is at an all time high as evidenced from the kind of books that are flooding the market, as an unprecedentedly large number of people write their hearts out in blogs, tweets and on other social media. The prevailing change of paradigm has brought in its wake, an uncertainty of a totally different kind. The predominant cliché of the times is "follow your heart". The problem with the above logic is that most of us have forgotten how to feel, let alone hearing what our hearts say to us. This has happened because of centuries of prolonged disuse. And that is where the relevance of this book comes in. It is clear to all today, especially with the widespread use of the Internet that the norms of social interaction are changing drastically. As fewer and fewer major nations go to war against each other, countries ruled by patriarchal principles are undergoing, sometimes prolonged civil unrest. Instead of full fledged armed conflict, terror attacks are getting increasingly commonplace. The common citizen, plagued by a faceless enemy, needs to summon forth all his/her energies together to accept the criminal while condemning the crime. Many writers, e.g. David Wilcock, who has written the recent bestseller "The Ascension Mysteries", has pointed out, what many of us intuit already, that we are on the cusp of a new evolutionary cycle in which newer ways of being, based on heart based consciousness would be the preferred mode of ascending the evolutionary ladder. This particular book discusses in detail how heart based consciousness manifests itself on Earth. It does so in the voice of Maitreya, another name for the Christ in us. The main text of the book is geared to show human beings how to live as ascended entities, anchored in the spirit of Christ Consciousness on this Earth. A term that is used to describe the discipline that paves the way to heart based living is called "Agni Yoga" (the yoga of fire). In this kind of yoga, all the dross of conflicting earthly desires in the heart is consumed in a baptism of fire. The purification of the expression of love provided by the baptism of fire sets the stage for the second coming of Christ in the heart chakra. Those who use their time on Earth to receive It (as opposed to Him/Her) will be reborn in Its likeness. Reading the text, I was reminded of the corresponding verses in the New Testament of the Bible dealing with the second coming of Christ, though of course, the text is adapted to the needs of the present time. No less important to the message of this book is the masterly introduction by Alexander Gerasimchuk. In this introduction, he spells out the reason behind the writing of this book, emphasizing that it contained a message for humanity to be delivered at the present time. He also shows that the author's work is a continuation of the work of Helena Blavatsky and Helena Roerich, both of whom underwent severe physical disruption in order to ground the subtle energies associated with the practice of Agni Yoga on Earth. One becomes privy to a lot of activity behind the scenes, viz., the existence and functioning of Shambhala, the Seven Rays (mentioned by Alice Bailey in her books) which are the expression of the Seven Sons of Light, the "The continents of the planet were divided into seven spheres, each of them represents one of the Seven Rays bearing certain energies in which the humanity of the entrusted territories develops, the activity of the White Brotherhood towards bringing Heaven down on Earth and especially, an account of the training underwent by Blavatsky, Roerich and Dushkova in order to accomplish their missions. It is not possible to recount all the subtleties in this book in this already lengthy review. Suffice it to say that reading it gave me a sense of déjà vu, not unlike the emotions I encountered on reading the New Testament about the second coming of Jesus. I sensed the music behind the words, it was as if I knew what was coming and felt my senses responding to the call. This book could be a harbinger of some great event that we, as a collective, have not conceived of yet and it behooves us to be attentive to its message. Strongly recommended to one and all.

It may be spiritual but it sure isn't biblically based. If you are awaiting the One True Messiah, steer clear of this book.

The chapters at the heart of this book are an English translation. The translation is recent. The original, in Russian, was written down and published decades ago. For her reading public in Russia, including what she has published in minority languages in countries or republics that were formerly Soviet, the author is a known quantity; born in southern Moldova, she has been publishing books for years in this region. Dushkova is less well-known in English, as fewer of her books have been published in English. That said, it is not difficult to locate, online on the world wide web, promotional articles which claim of sales records being broken at dot com by her titles. But in all honesty, this reader/reviewer has to tell you that Dushkova was introduced to me by word-of-mouth, through a conversation with an acquaintance better-versed than I in literature relating to Agni Yoga or Theosophy or Madame Blavatsky's Secret doctrine. Dushkova was recommended to me for quality's sake, not for the sake of breaking sales records. This latter troubles me, as this kind of promotion raises more questions than it answers. I like the material well enough, reminiscent as it is of Yelena Ivanovna "Helena" Roerich's Teaching of Living Ethics also known as Agni Yoga. What I worry about, is whether Dushkova will end up being Alice Bailey to Madame Roerich's Blavatsky.
